Universidad de Jaén – Linares School of Engineering

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

We recommend that you download the list of Engineering Prerequisites for Telecommunications Engineering Master (questionnaire-te-prerequisites.pdf) and go through it carefully and precisely so that you can have a good idea of our requirements.

The admission to the Master programme in Telecommunications Engineering can be granted, if the following admission requirements are met:

- A first University degree (Bachelor degree, or a comparable academic degree) of an accredited University in Electronic and Electrical Engineering, Information and Communications Engineering, Information Technology or in other related subject areas. This degree must give access to the Master studies in the country of origin. In case the Bachelor degree do not satisfy the required background on telecommunication competences (see questionnaire-te-prerequisites), additional subjects can be demanded (up to a maximum of 48 ECTS credits) in order to obtain the Master degree.

- High School leaving certificate.
- English: Proficient user according to the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages (e.g. TOEFL 200 CB, 75 iBT, IELTS 5.5; Cambridge FCE).
- Spanish: Basic Spanish language skills (Level A1). You may apply before having passed your Level A1 certificate.
